A great ambassador, a great representative, a pledge that the American splitt is; a splitt not of gloomy pessimism but, of the most genial representation of peacefulness and cooperation."

Of war and war dead:
"The other day I went out to Arlington, and I saw those solemn acres where your military dead lie. I saw the care bestowed upon them. Before I was there I had been at some of the graveyards on the continent of Europe and there I saw just as I saw here now how the dead were being kept in reverent honor; and the recollection of the romance of sacrifice was their custodian." recollection of the romance of sacri-fice was their custodian."

Young Generation is Danger.

"Ah, my friends, we know the stress, we know the pain, we know the losses, we know the privation, and therefore we are moved in our hearts by the romance of sacrifice. But a young generation is growing tup round about us whose eyes were never moistened by the tears of sorrow on account of war. Speaking directly to descendants of luncheon, the prime minister said it uncheon, the prime minister said it was "all nonsense" to challenge such american citizens because in a new country they sometimes remember the past.

If any traditions have come to the shorea of America from the British Isles, he said, "these traditions only go to strengthen the allegiance to the new."

Describing himself as an "internationalist." MacDonald said his internationalism and the internationalism of most people was not built upon indifference to tradition and history, but rether upon a broad consideration for the other peoples of the world.

John W. Davis, president of the English-Speaking Union, and former Ambassador to Great Britain, presented MacDonald to an audience of 5.000 in the ballroom of the Astor Hotel amid a colorful setting. As he proposed a toast to the President the strains of the "Star-Spangled Banner" came from the pipes of a hidden organ, the lights were dimmed and a apollight illuminated a small American flag fluttering in the breeze of an electric fan.

Messages Are Received.

After this toast one was drunk to the king and this time the organ played "God Save the King" and the spotlight rested on the British flag at the other end of the room.

Messages of felicitation upon the occasion of the lunch were received from Lord Balfour, president of the English-Speaking Union across the ocean; from Ambasador Charles G Dawes, who is in midatlantic homeward bound on leave, and Henry L. Stimson. Secretary of State.

Six in Family Seized With Typhoid Fever

Special to The Washington Post. Winchester, Va., Oct. 11.—Six members of the family of H. B. Gardner, including his wife and five children, are ill of typhold fever at their home east of here. The wife's condition was critical today, and the children were improved. A physician who sent a specimen of their well water to the State chemist at Richmond was advised it reeked with typhold germs. The well is situated near the barnyard, it was said.

Gardner did not contract the disease. Volunteers, led by the Rev. Norris A. Lineweaver, pastor of Market Street Methodist Episcopal Church, and Boy Scouts, have cut 21 acres of corn for Gardner and have done other farm work for him.

Saville Muzzey, Columbia University history instructor, withdrew his $100. 000 libel suit against former Repre sentative John J. Gorman today upon the introduction in United States District Court of Gorman's apology for his charges that Muzzey's text-books are "pro-British."

General Judge James H. Wilkerson dismissed the case without assessing costs.

The suit was born of Mayor William Hale Thorapson's famous "America First" campaign in 1927, during which the mayor deposed William Mcdadrew as superintendent of Chicago schools on grounds that he was a "paid agent of the British crown." Former Representative Goiman stepped up to support the mayor, and in a letter to him, and later in testimony before the board of education trying the ouster proceedings against McAndrew, Gorman pointed out what he regarded as pro-British evidence in Prof. Muzzey's textbooks of American Revolutionary history. He termed the book un-American and accused the book un-American and accused the Columbia savant of being a propagandist whose books were unfit for use in the public schools.

Frof. Muzzey repited with a $100.00 libel suit in Federal Court and the two fought a duel of charges and countercharges for two years.

In his retraction today, Gorman admitted had never read the Muzzey texts at the time he criticized them, but had signed the letter of a writer in whom he had confidence.

"I greatly regret." the retraction read. "If I have seemed to reflect in any way upon your motives in writing these textbooks, or upon your character as a patriotic citizen, for I now realize that I had no basis for casting such aspersions. A careful study of your textbooks discloses nothing which I would criticise and I consider.

of your textbooks discloses nothing which I would criticles and I consider these books well adapted to use in the public schools."

The writer of the review of Muzzey's book, which Gorman had signed, is understood to have been Charles Grant Miller, now deceased, then a newspaper and magazine writer and a prominent witness in the ouster trial of Superintendent McAndrew.

It was desired to make it as impressive as possible, a document that would go far in bringing the two countries in tune with their peace aims, to give a fitting climax, manner in which the leaders of the two countries had met and talked, and yet not go so far as to leave the impression that there was an alli-

The Secretary's formal statement denying an alliance to enforce the peace follows:

The death list from the fight was increased to six today when T. L. Carrer, a triker who had been shot through the neck, died at a hospital. Between 50 and 60 strikers, charged with rioting, rebellion and resisting an officer, were bound over to the superior court last week, when they waived preliminary hearings.

In freeing Sheriff Adkins and seven of his deputies, Judge Harding said that he could find no evidence that the sheriff or the seven had violated the law. He declared that the sheriff had a perfect right to be at the mill gate in view of the fact that he knew trouble was threatning, and that he, as the head of the law enforcing department of the county, was duty bound to use such force as appeared to him to be necessary to enforce the law.

Judge Harding at the same time uttered a scathing denouncement of the strikers who attempted to keep workmen from entering the mill, declaring that no man had a right to keep another from working in any way, or for any pay he pleased, and that the strikers were committing an unlawful act in trying by force to prevent men entering the mill.

The men were held, the judge said, because they admitted shooting and it had been proved that persons had lost their lives at the time the shots, were fired. He said that the testimony that the men fired to protect themself was of such a nature that it was not the province of his court, but of a jury, to decide upon its merits.

RACE ISSUE BARRED

Prosecution Is Not Allowed to aRise Social Status Point in Trila.

RED QUESTION DROPPED

Charlotte, N. C., Oct. 11 (A.P.).—
An unsuccessful effort to inject the race question into a trial in which communism already threatens to become an issue was made by the prosecution today in the case of the seven agitators and strikers charged with second-degree murder in concection with the shooting of O. F. Aderholt. Gastonia chief of police, Dewey Martin, an organizer for the National Textile Workers Union, was asked if he had ever spoken on the same platform with a negro ramed Otto Hall.

The defense objected and, at the cution attorney, the jury was excused.

"We propose to show," the attorney argued before Judge M. V. Barnhill, "that this witness spoke on the same platform with this negro and that social equality was advocated between the white and black, and that it was asserted that it was one of the objects of the union to promote social equality."

Social Equality Discussed.

country."

An objection was raised by the defense that the bill of indictment had nothing in it about these charges, only charging murder.

"Not Competant," Is Ruling.

Judge Barnhill's ruling was brief:
"That is not competent," he said.

The communism issue was raised yesterday, the prosecution petitioning the court for permission to ask witnesses as to their communistic affiliations. The metter was not pressed, however, and Judge Barnhill was asked to review four cases. one of which was the Sacco-Vanzetti case, before he came to a decision.

Witnesses today continued to offer testimony in an effort to show that the seven defendants. Fred Erwin Beal, Clarence Miller, George Carter, Joseph Harrison, William McGinnis, Louis McLaughlin and K Y. Hendricks are not guilty and that the blame rested on Chief Aderholt and the officers who accompanied him on the night of June 7 to the union headquarters when the chief was wounded fatally and three of his officers were wounded.

The Government at once moved to declare a mistrial.

"Mr. Hogan," asked Justice Hitz, "as an officer of this court and counsel for the defendant, are you still ready to proceed?"

"I am ready when the court is," Hogan replied.

"I then overrule the motion," Justice Hitz said, ordering that the jury be brought in.

The Government at once called C. G. Chase, Fall's son-in-law and former collector of customs at E Paso, who described the purchase of the Harris Ranch in New Mexico by Fall with money obtained from Doheny. Chase said Fall told him the money was a loan, for which Fall had given his note.

E. C. Finney, solicitor for the In-

Assistant Secretary under Pall, identified a number of documents, leases, letters and telegrams pertaining to the Elk Hills naval reserve lease and the Pearl Harbor (Hawaii) naval oil storage contract. Court then recessed until today.

included people of all religious denominations paid final tribute to the priest, whose friends were legion.

The Rev. Father Edward Tierney, of Lynchburg, paid a tribute to the loyalty and zeal of Father Kelly.
Father Tierney, who is one of the oldest priests in this diocese, was a warm personal friend of Father Kelly.
It was in Alexandria, he declared, that Father Kelly spent most of his life as a priest since his ordination 43 years ago.
4 Forty priests occupied pews on the left-hand side of the church and

A frame dwelling house occupied by Ernest Smith and owned by Dr. T. P. Dodd, located between the Fort Humphreys road and Pullman's store, in Fairfax County, was destroyed by dire about 9 o'clock yesterday morning. The fire is thought to have been caused by a defective flue. Neighbors and firemen saved part of Smith's furniture, but the fire department was unable to combat the blaze owing to lack of water. Fire Chief James M. Duncan, jr., states the loss is about $4,000 on the building, and is covered by insurance.

HAT interests Luella now, more than anything else, is the search being conducted by Los Angeles police for "the sixth seal," part of the ritual of the Divine Order of the Royal Arm of the Great "you'll k" Eiven?
Luella seemed perplexed. "If you've been reading these stories," she said, "you'll know that the police are looking for the sixth seal. It seems kind-a funny. There are only four seals on the rocks—that is, if a seal ever gets on the rocks; but what I mean is this—possibly one of the seals dived too deep and drowned himself—that might have been the sixth seal—"

"That was a great eleven, all right, when 'Red Grange' was on it," said Luella, "but they called it the "Four Rorsemen of the Apocalypse.' The Divine Order of the Royal Arm of the Great Eleven isn't an athletic association. It's a social order."

"How do you know so much about it?" I asked.

"Well," said Luella, telling me something new, "when I was out in California, I used to spend quite a lot of time at the Cliff House, If you've ever been there, you'll remember the seal rocks—you know, where the seals bask in the sunshine seals dived too deep and drowned himself—that might have been the sixth seal—"

That, of course, is an explanation. Personally, I doubt if it's so,
"You don't belong to any of these fraternal orders," offered Luella, "so you're really not 'hep to the game."
As long as I've known Luella I haven't associated her with any of the sororities. "Are you a member?" I asked, wondering.
"Am I?" she countered, "I'm the Washington regent of the Divine Order of the Royal Arm of the Great Eleven—"
Some day Luella might take me in, and we'll make it an even dozen—the Divine Order of the Royal Arm of the Great Twelve, in other words, where the seals bask in the sunshine of the Golden Gate."

ANGLO-AMERICAN RELATIONS.

The Secretary of State has undertaken to explain the true meaning of the joint statement recently issued by President Hoover and Prime Minister MacDonald. It is well that he recognizes that the joint statement should be clarified, so that American and foreign peoples will know more definitely what was in the minds of the two heads of government, and just how far they have The joint statement is variously interpreted, here and abroad. On one hand there is a cynical surmise that the statement was purposely made ambiguous in order to conceal the fact that no practical understanding was reached. On the other hand, it is presumed that traffic congestion in outlying city and suba far-reaching accord has been reached, amounting substantially to an alliance, to operate in a positive manner for the suppression of any war started by a violator of the Kellogg pact.

But the Secretary of State's explanation itself needs to be explained, in view of the binding force of any "moral understanding" to which the United States may be a party. It will be recalled that the late President Wilson, in his discussion with senators concerning the covenant of the League of Nations, laid stress upon the suggestion that the United States was to undertake only a "moral obligation," and that, when pressed, he admitted that a moral obligation had all the binding force of a legal obligation. The Secretary of State now says that the United States and Great Britain are seeking to exert only a moral influence, and not a military one. The question that will be asked, of course, is what would happen if a violator of the Kellogg treaty should fail to yield to the combined moral influence of Great Britain and the United States. Would the moral obligation end there, or would it call for more determined concerted action in behalf of peace?

Whatever the new relationship between the United States and Great Britain is intended to be, it should be clearly understood on both sides of the Atlantic, and the understanding of the relationship should be the same in Great Britain as it is in America. It is also necessary that European nations should not be mystified as to the true nature of the relationship.

The danger of a misunderstanding in Great Britain regarding the true nature of Anglo-American relations is enhanced by the odd wording of Mr. MacDonald's statement to British journalists upon the eve of his departure from Washington. He said, "I have achieved more than I hoped," and he made several allusions to "Anglo-American policy," which to the literal-minded peoples on the other side of the Atlantic are applied to practical ententes and alliances. Mr. MacDonald told the Senate that an alliance was not to be thought of, and it war they have undergone extensive changes would be unfortunate if the joint state- and have made notable progress. But all ment and his own statement to British | that development has been under American journalists should give rise to misunderstanding on that point.

The exigencies of British domestic politics are such as to make it probable that Mr. MacDonald will be questioned regarding the scope of the Anglo-American joint statement. If the British public believes that he has achieved what amounts to an alliance, calling for the pendence decree automatically putting up a capitalize them. We are standing on the exercise of mutual moral pressure upon tariff bar against a considerable portion of threshold of a magnificent opportunity. Let other nations, his political prestige will no doubt be augmented; while on this of more than $88,000,000. Difficulty is exalliance with any country, no matter maintain the government. Would the islands rine of the air.

what its high purpose might be, would e a disastrous undertaking.

For the sake of a thorough understanding among the peoples here and abroad, the ambiguities of the joint statement should be removed.

AMERICAN LABOR POLICY.

Speaking before the convention of the American Federation of Labor in Toronto, Sir Henry Thornton, president of the Canadian National Railroads, said: "In the pres ent day and in days to come, those industries will prosper most which accept labor as an equal partner, and labor will best prosper when it recognizes the obligations and the dignity of that partnership." Sir Henry was followed by J. T. Brownie, representing English machinists, who made a violent speech expressing antagonism toward the employers He was followed by William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor.

The speech of the English delegate was flery and provocative. He asserted in effect that the future welfare of the workers depended upon their organized power exerted in politics. In his reply, Mr. Green said: 'We see in political power the same virtue that our English brothers do, but it is not possible in a country as large as the United States and with such population diversity to create a single party organization like that which exists in compact Great Britain.'

The real reason why American labor has not and should not become involved in party politics, however, is embraced in the address of Sir Henry Thornton. "Those industries will prosper most which accept labor as an equal partner. Labor will best prosper when it recognizes the obligations and dignity of that partnership." No gulf separates American capital from American labor. Their aims, their aspirations and their hopes are The new industrial order that the same. they are working out will be built in evolution, not revolution.

American labor has no desire to strike against the industrial order. It is not socialistic. It is not an enemy, but a partner of industry. As a partner it is entitled to share in the benefits of cooperation. Industry joins in this stand, for it has come to realize of recent years that what benefits labor benefits itself. There are no partisan issues in the United States that set apart labor. Labor, mutually committed their governments. in fact, would be the last to cast away its privilege of participating in Government upon an equal footing with the rest of the popula-

CONGESTION AT CITY GATES.

Through a special committee the American Automobile Association is trying to reduce the fatalities and economic loss arising from urban areas. "Metropolitan centers," says Thomas P. Henry, president of the association, "have been focusing attention on their midcity congested areas and State highway officials on the open country, with the result that the problem of outlying city and subarban areas has not received proper attention." The committee will work for the widening and straightening of suburban highways, focusing its attention on the consideration of metropolitan traffic from the regional angle in an effort to formulate a national policy.

Nowhere is the need for improvement in this respect more graphically illustrated than on the Washington-Baltimore boulevard. So long as the motorist is in open country he is on a broad and safe highway, but as soon as he reaches the Washington suburban area he finds himself led into a bottle neck. At certain hours it takes no longer to drive from Laurel to the Bladensburg peace cross than it does to drive from the peace crossinto Washington.

A similar situation exists in the environs of almost every city. In congested zones police and automatic signals are provided to facilitate traffic. In the open country wide, hard-surfaced roads have been built upon which relatively high speeds are possible in safety, but the suburban highway needs have been generally neglected. The A. A. A. has tackled one of the most acute problems that besets motordom. May success reward its

PHILIPPINE INDEPENDENCE.

Senator King's attempt to thrust the Philippine independence question into the tariff bill was properly defeated. The Senate followed up this decision with a decisive vote against the proposal of Senator Broussard that the President be requested to invite foreign representatives to a conference for the purpose of reaching an agreement to respect independence of the Philippines. The absurdity of inviting other nations to a conference on that question before Congress has determined what policy it will pursue in the Philippines was sufficient to defeat such a proposal. But the vote on the independence amendment was more in the nature of a rebuke to senators trying to inject the Philippine question into the tariff fight than an expression of the Senate's position.

This little skirmish presages a renewal of the battle to win independence for the Philippines at the regular session. The question can be properly considered at that Whether or not Philippine products time. shall continue to be imported into the United States duty free is a question that certainly is germane to the tariff. But the launching of a new nation is not a matter to be decided upon in a rider to the tariff bill.

Since the islands were ceded to the United States at the close of the Spanish-American guidance, with the assistance of American capital and a free market for Philippine goods in this country. The commerce of the Philippines has almost trebled since 1914, hut that trade is preponderantly with the United States. Last year the islands exported to this country goods valued at $110;-832,000 compared with exports valued at of our Nation depends primarily upon the $39,168,000 to all other countries. Foreign commerce would be stifled by an inde- ties and a determination to exploit and to be assured of financial stability if the United States should withdraw? There are various factions within the islands. Hints of internal disturbances if independence should granted are frequently heard. These are a few of the questions that must be considered in Congress for the benefit of the Philippines.

There is another set of questions involving the welfare of large groups of Americans that must be settled. offered in the Senate by two senators from sugar-producing States indicate the vital interest American farmers have in the quesion. Farmers are not willing to compete with the cheap labor of the Philippines, and since Congress has persistently refused to levy duties against imports from the islands, they are now demanding separation as ardently as the Filipinos themselves:

American policy with respect to the Philippines was decided years ago. Congress s pledged to give them independence as soon as they are capable of maintaining it. It may be that the proper time is drawing near, but Congress must decide whether or not it is wise to suddenly cut loose a possession that has become economically dependent upon the United States. Nothing can be gained by following the advice of those who ignore the danger of plunging the islands into economic chaos. It is for this reason that impartial observers have urged that the Philippines be built up into a condition of economic independence before taking the risks involved n political independence.

Is it not possible to work out a program under which the islands would gradually assume political responsibilities while they are Increating their economic stability?

FARM BOARD INTERFERENCE.

The little heckling party in which the Senate agricultural committee, and others, has engaged for the past few weeks has been brought to an unfruitful end. In spite of all the objections certain senators could find to members of the Federal Farm Board, the committee has approved a report recommending confirmation of their appointment. The committee voting clearly indicated that the only excuse for the little farce was the desire of individual senators to dictate the policy of the board with respect to crops produced by their home States.

Now that the personal grievances of the agricultural bloc have been aired, there is no further excuse for delaying confirmation of the appointments. The agricultural committee has taken up valuable time of the board members in the midst of the harvest season to complain that they have not yet relieved some branches of agriculture. There is no need of the Senate requiring more valuable time or further upsetting the temperament of the board. If agriculture can be stabilized by the bill enacted by Congress, no doubt the board will accomplish that purpose. Only after the policy adopted had had a fair trial and failed would it be proper for Congress to meddle with the question.

AIRSHIPS OF THE FUTURE

By REAR ADMIRAL WILLIAM A. MOFFETT. U. S. N., Chief of Bureau of Aeronautics, in a Radio Address.

What will airships of the future be?

If Dr. Eckener could wave a magic wand and thereby cause changes in his Graf Zeppelin, he would first make her larger, thereby increasing her efficiency and enlarging her cruising range, for the Graf Zeppelin is admittedly small for spanning the ocean disances profitably. Next, he would ask for more speed; for increased speed, besides shortening the time for the airship's normal crossing of the oceans, is the greatest safety factor an airship can have. Airships of 10,000,000 cubic feet and of a speed of over 100 miles per hour are not far off.

As representing the next step in airship progress, let me describe very briefly the Navy's two new airships of 6,500,000 cubic feet volume, or about 160 tons displacement, which are already well underway. They will be larger and faster than any in existence. They will have a maximum speed of 90 miles an hour and at 60 knots can cruise 10,000 miles without refueling. As merchant ships they could carry 100 passengers across the Atlantic and 150 from the Pacific Coast to Honolulu. They will bring the United States within two days of Europe and within three or four days of Japan and Asia. Such ships will in time be used for transcontinental travel, and there will be long waiting lists of people who want to cross the continent and view our wonderful country, its plains, valleys and mountains, from the air n quiet, comfort, cleanliness and safety.

Probably the most outstanding novelty will be the provision of a complete airplane hangar within the hull of the airship, capable of housing five high-performance airplanes. The airplanes will be raised or lowered on a traneze swinging through large sliding doors in the bottom of the hangar.

Externally, the new airships will appear fuller and less slender than the Los Angeles. The fair lines of the hull will not be disfigured as in past practice by external cars containing the engines. The engines will be housed within the hull, thereby reducing the

Their framework, like that of their predcessors, will consist of duralumin longitudinal and transverse girders, with steel vire bracing. The girders will be of a new type, stronger and more efficient than hithero used. The outside will be covered with the characteristic aluminized fabric, drawn smooth and tight. The buoyant helium will be contained in eleven separate cells of gas-The strength of the hull will be sufficient for storm or squall conditions, approximately twice as severe as the Los Angeles could successfully encounter, adding greatly to their safety of operation. After all, the rigid airship to date has shown merely a small part of its ultimate possibilities. Another Letter From a Bald-Headed Dad to a Flapper Daughter. By ROBERT QUILLEN

MY DEAR LOUISE:

Your life will be a series of contests, with unpleasant in claim to have open minds ought to dividuals or unpleasant conditions as your opponents. I am glad you can't win all the time, for that would make life a ore. Cake would be an abomination if you had to live on cake alone. But losing too much is equally fatal to happiness, so I am telling you a little secret that will enable you to win your share of victories.

In tennis, as in baseball, the ordinary player's ambition is to "hit 'em where they ain't." If your opponent is on the left side of the court, you try to place the ball on the right side. It's a good idea if to many other crimes. it works. But like other good ideas it encounters hard facts, and hard facts spoil the best of theories. You try to place the ball where your opponent can't reach it, but you drive it out of bounds instead-or When the incomparable Helen Wills was fighting for her last national championship, she faced an English woman who was capable of defeating her. Helen depended much on her smashing drive, and the English woman hit the ball harder still. Helen depended on her ability to 'hit 'em where they ain't," and the English woman played the same trick with greater skill. In fact, the English woman made almost twice as many placements as Helen.

Outvolleyed and outplaced, and unable to tire her opponent, what ould our Helen do? Well, she knew this little secret I have for you and it saved her.

She simply returned the balls, steadily and patiently, playing true and safe, and waited for the English woman to defeat herself. And that is precisely what happened. The English woman defeated erself by driving the ball out of the court or into the net. Gene Tunney, the boxer who made a million and quit, knew the secret. He did nothing spectacular to please the crowd; he took no chances. His business was to win, and he backed away when backing meant winning waiting for his opponent to wear himself down expose himself, and then striking true and hard.

People will say untrue things about you—treat you unfairly—use unfair tricks to get the better of you. Don't try to use their methods. Just play the game steadily and fairly, content to keep safe, and nine times in ten the other fellow will lick himself.

If you tend to your knitting and wait, they always overplay their ands-go too far-talk too much-hang themselves.

The vamp can steal any boy or man for a day, but she can't keep one. It isn't necessary to fight her. She defeats herself. The men come back to the steady ones. Love, (Copyright, 1929.)

Female Teachers Better Than Men in Early Training of Children. To the Editor of The Post-Sir: It was extremely interesting to note the recent controversy regarding the suggestion to introduce an increased number of male school teachers, to the detriment naturally of our present force of women teachers on the ground of its probable advantage in the early training of children: As it merely reflected the personal opinion of a noted educator, with that of an equally noted mayor, I ously considered for adoption by our school officials. It is an established fact, that women teachers create an air of refinement which helps chilwork patiently and effectively, with the environment of home training, to promote obedience and religious practice. This helps to prepare the children for future life. While the objections to women teachers may be sustained in individual cases, generally the children are trained more advantageously by women teachers. I sincerely trust no further effort will be advanced to introduce male male, except as it may be necessary for advanced pupils.

Mrs. Borden Harriman Decides Not to Live in Georgetown.

Instead of buying a house in Georgetown, as she had originally intended. Mrs. Borden Harriman has detelded to go to the country. She has bought the Lightfoot place at the intersection of River and Reservoir roads, not far from Mrs. Anne Archbold's estate.

roads, not far from Mrs. Anne Archbold's estate.

The house crowns a "heaven kissing hill" in a forest and commands a beautiful view of the Potomac and the city. The mansion itself is of the Victorian era, built of red brick with the characteristic long porches and slate roof, but this Mrs. Harriman proposes to remodel completely. She, however, will preserve the natural beauty of the setting.

Having sold her house in F street, scene of her famous politico-social supper parties, to Mr. and Mrs. My-ron Hofer, Mrs. Harriman is living for the present at the National Woman's Democratic Club.

Brig. Gen. William E. Horton will entertain a few guests informally at a buffet supper Monday evening in his apartment at the Kedrick in compilment to Mr. Lionel Atwill, whose new play, "Stripped," will open that evening.

International Tableaux

Again to Be Presented. Again to Be Presented.

Under auspices of the Colonial Dames of America, international tableaux vivants will be presented at the Carlton on December 12, the proceeds to go to the fund for restoration of Wythe House at Williamsburg, Va. Mrs. Waiter R. Tuckerman, chairman of the committee, is a vice president of the colonial Dames. A similar entertainment was given last year, with diplomatic representatives of a dozen nations taking part, and was so successful that it has been decided to repeat the tableaux.

Mr. Robert D. Cunningham, brother of the bride, will be best man. The ushers will be Mr. Orme Libbey, Mr. Somerville Marceron, Mr. Gordon Fairfax Contee and Mr. Bernard L. Walker all of Washington. Miss Cunningham is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Cunningham, of Chevy Chase Mr. Hall is the son of Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Hall. of Hallwood. Va.

The call of the "job" has been heard and answered by two ambitious members of Washington's younger set. Next week Miss Charlotte Chifdress, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Childress, will leave for New York, where she will enter one of the large Fifth Avenue stores. Whether she was influenced to seek out New York as her goal because of the success of Mrs. Gregg Birdsall is not livuiged. But the fact remains that Mrs. Birdsall is achieving success in a little bookshop in Wall street. She is the daughter of Mrs. S. C. Neale, of Washington, and a granddaughter of the late Col. Myron M. Parker.

amazing story you ever heard. If it's true—well, if it's true, it's the biggest scoop of the century. Now, look here, this is what you've got to do. Come up to town at once, both of you.
Garage the car somewhere and go straight to the Seven Dials Club. Do' you think that when you get there you can get rid of that footman fellow?"

"Alfred? Rather. You leave that to me."

"Good. Get rid of him and watch out for me and Bill. Don't show yourselves at the windows, but when we drive up, let us in at once. See?"

"Yes."

Navy-Notice Dame Contest Will Be Offered After World Series Bettle: "William Tell" Heads 8 P. M. Program.

This afternoon the broadcasters will be mainly occupied with spot is beginning at 1:15 o'clock when both WRC and WMAL will give an account of the Chicago-Philadelphia world series game from Philadelphia. As soon as WRC has completed the baseball game, the listeners will be hurried to Baltimore, where a description of the unplayed portion of the Navy-Notre Dame football game will be put on the air.

Rossini's overture to "William Telf" heads a program of classical and light music which Nathaniel Shilkret and his symphony orchestra will broadcast over a coast-to-coast network during the General Electric Hour at 8 o'clock. Marguerite Namara, soprano, will be the featured arist and will sing Herbert's "Kiss Ma Again." "Sea Nymphs." a composition by Director Shilkret, will be offered as an instrumental novelty in which will be heard the harp, celeste and string instruments. A new program, Laundryland Lyrics, will be heard at 8:30 o'clock for a half hour, presenting Bernice Taylor, soprano, and Fred Waldner, tenor. Josef Koesther will direct the 22-piece orchestra.

Josef Koesther will direct the 22-piece orchestra.

The dignified themes of Grieg's "Triumphal March" and an excerpt from Verdi's "The Force of Destiny" open the period of slumber music, which a string ensemble, directed by Judwig Laurier, will broadcast at 11:15 o'clock tonight. Other selections include the "Voice of Chimes" (Luigini); an excerpt from "La Traviata" (Verdi); "Toujours ou Jamais" (Waidteufel), and "Angel's Serenade" (Braga).

The heavens instead of a wrist watch as a timepiece will be subject of a radio talk by Paul Sollenberger, who keeps the Nation's time. Mr. Collenberger will speak from WRC at '45 o'clock. He is an astronomer of the United States Naval Observatory in charge of the time division. He will tell how astronomer-scientists keep tab on the movements of stellar bodies, the Zodiac and other heavenly phenomens for the purpose of keepphenomena for the purpose of keeping correct time as well as predicting eclipses and similar events.

The overture to Donizetti's lyric comedy. "Don Pasquale" and selections from Leoncavallo's "Paglinci" played by Henry Hadley and Gulbranton Symphony Orchestra will be pretented over the Columbia Broadeasting System, including WMAL, at 9:30 c'clock tonight. Other selections include the "Angelus" from one of Dr. Hadley's own symphonies: Herbert's "Serenade," and the Strause' waltz, "Vienna Woods."

"Vienna Woods."

Moran and Mack, 'The Two Black Crows," will be featured during the Paramount-Publix Hour at 10 o'clock.
"Prosperity Plus" is the title of the "Mt. and Mrs." sketch tonight. This program will last for a half hour, bejunning at 9 o'clock.

An hour of dance music by the swanes Syncopators will be presented at 11 o'clock by WMAL.

Barn dance music will predominate WJSV's program for this evening. The Walkiki Harmony Boys, E. P. Souder and his musical saw. and Percy Silverberg, soloist, are among the other attractions offered.

Gene. Ford and Glenn are to be featured from WLW twice during the evening, the first time at 9:30 o'clock and again at midnight. Little Jack Little will be on the WLW wave length for a half hour at 12:30 o'clock.

OCTOBER 12. "LIBRA."

F October 12 is your birthday the I P October 12 is your birthday the best hours for you on this date are from 9 a. m. to 11:10 a. m. and from 9 p. m. to midnight. The danger periods are from 6 a. m. to 8:30 a. m. and from 3 p. m. to 5:30 p. m.

This date will be crammed full of scivitles of a temporary nature. You will feel mentally and physically alive and anxious to do everything at once. Neither method nor caution will be used.

The child born October 12 will not be "top notch" in every branch of work or study, but this does not mean that it will be stupid. It will have a yital spark, which must be found and fed. It will have a decided interest. It will be both kind and loving.

You are a "help yourself" type person. This does not mean, however, that you try to pluck the best fruits for yourself, without courtesy or a thought to others' rights. It means that you wish for no favoritism and for yourself, without courtesy or a thought-to-others' rights. It means that you wish for no favoritism and no self-made lobs. You wish to rely upon "self-help." If things go wrong you do not blame any one clse. You feel that you owe something to the world, and you are busy paying off your debt. Your creditor is a lenient and helpful friend, for it is seen that you are doing your best. You have a hopeful and happy nature. Life to you is not a dull affair. You always expect an adventure round the corner—and you usually find it. Your existence is an admixture of work and pleasure. You are never too busy to have a bit of fun You are never too "pleasure mad" to forget your duties or to stop for an unexpected task.

Everything does not have to be "cut and dried," as you are daring and have a bit of a gambling spirit within you. You are not afraid of personal risks, but you would never involve anybody else. You have a very keen sense of honor.

Your "lucky" stone is the amethyst and your "lucky" day is Thursday.

Masquerade costumes require a great deal of individuality and thought. And since one is escaping from everyday things via the Road of Fantasy, why not seize the opportunity to be utterly fanciful and completely lovely?

Never let any one tease you into dressing in a masquerade costume you do not like or that does not suit you. If, for example, you have not the inclination to dress in a comic costume, why do so, just because some one who has seems to want you to?

And don't be afraid of the possible

And don't be afraid of the possibl And don't be afraid of the possible cost of a costume. Be clever instead and use things that are on hand, or if you must use new tissue, try not to cut it in such a way that it can not be used for something else.

Develop a costume for your party that suits you, that enhances your personality and your coloring, and one that is original and lovely.

And have as good a time as we are going to have at our party!

And blue is a cool and aristocratic color. This fall it seems to have given first place to browns and reddish brown shades, but this does not in the conservative smartness if you prefer it or find it more becoming than other colors.

Heavy, indestructible tuile is used

Heavy indestructible tulle is used for blouses on day-time frocks! You just have to ask to see some of this the next time you are in a department store in order to appreciate it. It is used as well for evening gowns in various colors and patterns.

Of course, no one would wear a veil except for a dressy type of outfit. Can I not faintly remember a day when a tailored suit and a veil tried to get together in the realm of chie? I fear so—but that was then, and as some wit recently remarked:
"We do things better now."

How would you like a brown beige and red mixture skirt, worn with a slik pull-over and a knitted fabric, and a short red Cardigan with a narrow beit at the natural waist-line, and a peplum which is quite full at the back, thus setting a new line for the inevitable Cardigan worn with a sports costume. And then a red, brown and beige scarf!

PERHAPS for the first time in the history of the screen, a situation in the lives of the actors minutely parallels the pilot of the film in which they appear. The coincidence is suggested by the booking of "Rusbands or Lovers" into the Little Theater, with Emil Jannings and Conrad Veidt in the mais roles of principal importance.

It is generally known, I believe, that Jannings present wife was veidt's first wife. The Veidts were divorced in Germany about the time this picture was made, and Jannings almost at once became the suitor of Frau Veidt. Contrary to expectation, both actors agreed to appear in the roles that virtually called for the resulting to this day are close friends. WINNIE WINKLE, THE BREAD WINNER hen he's hidden behind the newspaper

The advertisement that is read in the morning makes its impression on a mind that is going to market. And it's a rested mind, ready to take impressions.

ORNING is one time when thoughts, and do things in exactly their own way.

Everybody has his own way of making the most of bath, breakfast and the morning paper—but nearly everybody agrees on that trio of daystarters as the best yet devised.

The rested body gets bath and breakfast; the rested mind grabs The Post for the news.

When is anybody's reading as earnest, as absorbed, as interested, as is his reading of the morning newspaper?

That's partly because morning-people like to think their own to know, mornings, what the world ness. If we could just think as well has done overnight. So much happens at night that is news!

> But it's also partly, and largely, because morning minds are eager, energetic, alert. Vitality gets the better of sluggishness at the breakfast table — and our mental equipment is invariably at its best during these first, rested hours of the day.

Morning hours ought to be counted by Vita-Minutes, rather than by just minutes -so great is the time is news-time. All of us want difference between tiredness and freshand as fast all afternoon and evening as we do in the morning, we'd be super-humans. We need more Vita-Minutes like the minutes we give the morning paper.

> Who's hidden behind the morning Post, right now? And reading its advertisements? Many thousands of Posts are served in the homes every morning—even more thousands on Sundays. And these families who buy the morning Post are the families who buy the largest part of the merchandise that's sold in Washington stores.

Bulls Bid Up Number of Volatile Issues, but Hit Much Liquidation.

EXCHANGE SHUT TODAY

New York, Oct. 11 (A.P.) .- The stock market churned about without getting anywhere today. Bulls found the reduction in brokerage loans gratifying, if smaller than expected. and rapidly bid up a number of volatile issues, but met with heavy liquidation. Closing prices were highly irregular, with gains and losses ly irregular, with gains and losses fairly-evenly balanced.

As the market will be closed in observance of the legal holiday, Columbus Day, tomorrow, the week-end liquidation was heavy, and was swelfed by disappointment in many quarters over the reduction of but $91,000,000 in loans, announced last night, and several brokerage house advises to lighten commitments on rallies. Trading was but moderately active, 3,963,820 shares changing hands.

Money continued easy, with call loans once more renewing at 6 per cent, as compared to 8½ yesterday. Several commission houses were said to have increased their margin requirements, already the highest in recent financial history, which would lessen the requirements for bank funds to carry stocks, and may have been a factor in the easy money conditions.

Day's News Favorable.

Day's News Favorable.

The day's news was largely favorable. Montgomery-Ward increased its annual dividend rate from $2.50 to $3.

Copper statistics for September showed pleasing reductions in production and in stocks. The weekend trade and business reviews stated that retail trade was still being maintained at higher levels than a year ago, and indicated that the volume of general business was satisfactory, although comparison with a year ago produced several unravorable showings, owing to the sharp upturn at that time.

Tobacco stocks were again in urg-showings, owing to the sharp upturn at that time.

Tobacco stocks were again in urgent demand, although it was announced that one large chain store system would not follow the recent advance in cigarette prices. American Tobacco common and B shares reached new peaks with extreme gains of about 16 and 18 points and Liggett & Myers B rose a couple of points to a new top.

Continued strength in Western Union, which rose about 9 points to a new peak at 252, revived rumors of changes in capital structure. Anchor Cap rose 3 points to a new peak on further rumors of a merger with American Can, but the latter lost 3 points. Food shares were strong, Hershey Chocolate, Corn Products and Cuyamel Fruit mounting to new high territory. Several of the rails were well bought, New Haven reaching a new record price at 127½.

Commodities were irregular, Wheat mounted ½ to 1 cent on firm Buenos Aires reports and larger exports, corn was practically unchanged. Coffee was again sensationally weak, losing 2 cents a pound at the opening of the market, but rallying somewhat later on reports that the Brazilian government was supporting the South American market. Cotton lost about $1 a bale on bearish weather reports. Foreign exchanges were fairly steady. Sterling Cables reacted to $4.86\\(\frac{1}{2} \) in profit taking.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago Oct. 11.—For the first time in three weeks, direct export bidding on hard-winter wheat came into the market to-day and helped carry prices up grade. Despite a double holidary ahead. Europe appeared to be showing greater interest in United States, which is represented now actively competing with Argentine wheat for October and November shipment. Meanwhile unfavorable crop advices from Argentina continued, war.

vices from Argentina continued, with wheat in the extreme north part of Argentina reported today as a failure outsith.

ADVICE ON INVESTMENTS By CHARLES W. STORM

R. P. H.—Please furnish me an analysis of Kennedy Radio. Also what are the prospects of Ford Motor. Ltd.? Are they good speculations for long-term investments?

Answer—Kennedy (Colin B.) Corporation was incorporated January, 1929. Class "A" stock offered in May at $25 per share. It is too early in the history of the company to class the other than a radical speculation. Ford Motor, Ltd., has attraction only as a long-pull speculation of the most radical type. However, under the guidance of the parent Ford organization it may ultimately become an extremely profitable concern.

arnings, prospects, &c., of this company.

Answer—Reorganization and competitive difficulties have resulted in unsatisfactory income situation as shown by deficits in fiscal years ended seed to be seen the seed of the lightest level in concerns his tory. The outlook favored a moderate net profit for the year as a whole the stock can not be considered an investment issue, but has some attraction as a long-term speculative holding.

Ohio Brass Co.

H. J. B.—Please give me information on the following stocks. Also appreciate your suggesting some fairly low price stocks that appear promising.

Answer—The Ohio Brass Co. was incorporated in New Jersey, 1902 Earnings for 1928 were 20 per cerless than 1927 and the lowest since 1923. Records show that by June 1929, business was considerably ahead of previous year, and profits were showing more favorably. Kenned (Colin B.) Corporation was incorporated in January, 1929. Class "A stock offered in May at $25 per share. It is too early in the history of the company to class it other than a radical speculation. On the other stock you mention there is no available information. This column car not suggest low-priced speculative issues for you to purchase.

L. S. K.—Just prior to the stock split up of 20 for 1, I purchased For of Canada, at $1,046. If I sell the stock now there we uld be a loss of about $145. I have never seen the statement from the Ford Co. of Canada and would like to know if their stock is likely to increase in value. It is the stock in the stock in the Ford of Canada and the put the money in Cities Service.

Answer—Earnings for Ford of Canada and and exceptionally good showing in period of 1905 through 1928 but declined drastically in 1927 and 1928 to flecting change over in Ford models A deficit of over $3,000.000 was subtained in 1828 while 1927 profits were equal to only 12c a share on present espitalization. Indications are that income will show substantial improvement in 1929 although earlie estimates of $7 per hare are unliked to be realized. No cash dividends will be declared until the early part of 1930 at the earliest. Over a period of years the main trend of company sales and profits should be upward and while the stock is not suitable for conservative investment, the is sue possesses long-term attraction a a speculation over a period of years (Cities Service common has always re waxded stockholders who have put chased for the long pull. You must deadle for yourself whether you wis to make the exchange.

M. F. M. I would appreciate you opinion on the stock of the Cudah Co. listed on the New York Stock Es change. Are the affairs of the mes packing companies-improving and the dividend on this stock safe on the present prospects of the company?

Answer, Earnings of the leadin ment packing concerns so far the year have been maintained at leve comparable to the moderately satisfactory returns reported in the corresponding period of last year. Earnings last year were equal to $4.68 pt share. From current indication earnings in the current period to en October 31, will show a fair gain owe last year's returns. Thus it would seem that the $4 dividend now bein paid, will be covered by a fair margin Durant Motors Common. Durant Motors Common.

L. P. W. It is requested that yo advise me concerning the value, propects, and in general, concerning the following common stocks which hold: Fint Motor common: Duran Motor common. If there is any maket for these shares, please advise to their disposition.

Answer, Impossible to give any dar relative to Flint Motor common in one is available. The stock quoted in the over-the-counter maket at about 12½ cents bid, offere at 37½ cents. Durant Motors is liste on the New York Curb Exchange an at present selling at between $8 an $9 a share. Due to disappointin carnings, the stock does not look a tractive at this time and there does not appear any immediate prospection a change from this condition. George Washington vs. American, 8:30 a.m.. at Eastern High Stadium.
Georgetown vs. St. Louis. 2:30 p. m., at Golffith Stadium.
Maryland vs. South Carolina, 2:30 p. m., at College Park.
Catholic vs. Baltimore, 2:30 p. m., at Brookland Stadium.
Gallaudet vs. St. John's, 10 a. m., at Annapolis.

The world series excitement fails to cause District sport lovers to forget the four college football games acheduled here today. Large crowds are expected at each of these Capital grid clashes, one of which, the Geogge Washington-American game. Will be played in the morning in order to lessen the conflict among the attractions.

Probably the most attractive on the day's card is the Georgetown-St. Louis University contest at Griffith Stadium, where Lou Liftile's rejuvenated Hill-toppers will essay a return to the win column at the expense of one of the West's fast-improving elevens.
Burrounded by traditional rivalry and high student excitement, the set-to between George Washington and American University at Eastern High Stadium should puill them through the gates. This game will start at 9:30 p. m., at Annapolis to open its campaign in a game with St. John's, starting at 10 a.m.

St. Louis U., coached by "Hunk" Anderson. former Notre Dame star and assistant to Knute Rockne. comes here preceded by much prise. Not until this year has St. Louis been really are making the folks out West sit up and look with admiring eyes.

Aurounded by traditional rivalry and high student excitement, the set-to between George Washington and American University at Eastern High Stadium should puill them through the gates. This game will start at 9:30 this morning, thus giving the fans ample time to view another game in the afternoon.

AUREL RACE TRACK, Oct. 11. AUREL RACE TRACK, Oct. 11.—
Friday, usually an off day at a race track, found a strong counter-attraction in this section in the world series ball game at Philadelphia, and the attendance at Laurel this afternoon was made up of the dyedin-the-wool regulars. The program was rather an ordinary one. A steeplechase over the two-mile course and the Edgewater purse, a dash of a mile and a sixteenth, which brought together a field of 3-year-olds, were provided as attractions and both races furnished interesting contests. The J. E. Davis Stable furnished the winner of the steeplechase in Polish. The Edgewater purse repulled in a rousing contest in which he Brookmeade Stable's Chief Execulive was the winner over Shepherdess by the smallest of margins. There were five starters in the Edgewater, and Shepherdess award by Christe. were five starters in the Edgewater, and Shepherdess, owned by Charles Amory, and Beau Wrack, who runs in the silks of Mrs. Amory, who races in the nom de course of the Saga-more Stable, were coupled. They went to the post on odds-on favoriter

In the early running Beau Wrack dashed to the front and opened up a lead of a couple of lengths. A lead of a couple of lengths. A lead of a couple of lengths. A lead of the lengths was rated along in second place with Baker having him under a stout pull. Shepherdess was third. Rounding the far turn, Fields sent the latter up with a rush on the outside and as they made the turn for home Shepherdess showed in front. She led Chief Executive by half a length at the furlong pole and a strange of the length at the furlong pole and a strange it looked as if the race was all over but the shouting. In the last length at the furlong pole and a chrastage it looked as if the race was all over but the shouting. In the asst sixteenth Baker woke up and went to a drive on Chief Executive and the latter, responding with a bold eifort, wore Shepherdess down to get its right at the end. Safety Pin was third, beaten three lengths for place. Beau Wrack tired badly when put to a drive and tailed off at the end.

Calome, after several disappointing races, finally manafed to make good when he beat a band of maiden 2-year-olds in the running of the first race, & dash of six furlongs, under claiming conditions. Calome was ridden by C. Frock, dashed on in the middle of the bunch until well around the far turn. Entering the homestretch where the leaders bore out. Calome came through next the rail and, going to the furlong pole, drew away into a lead of two lengths. He retained this advantage the remainder of the journey. Bonny Boy, coming from behind in the stretch, run to finish with a rush, was up in the finial strides to beat Mary Eloise a head for the place and Pink Coates followed another nose away. The latter went wide the entire trip. Naylor and Play a Bit which showed early speed faded away when the real test.

Big doings.

With two $10,000 races up for decision at Laurel, $5,000 events to be run at Hawthorne and Latonia and high class feature events carded for Fairmount and Jamaica, racing will make a bid to hold its own with football and the world series this aft. The old sport of kings has cut out a man-sized job for itself, but at other times has survived more severe bunetings and can be expected to weather today's storm.

To get down to the business at hand, I look for a victory for "John the Bath's" KARL EITEL down at Latonia in the fifth and feature event. It is the pitchforked in the race. True, the Reichert entry of BROWN WISDOM and MY DANDY will be dangerous, but I think they will be no better than GALADAY, the two verseld.

This looks like another Heretiz-Lightning from the piece de resistance is the first of the piece de resistance is the first while I am better bet right now.

BLOE BLOOD is on razor edge and figures to win the first, while I am fifth, a selling race at a mile and a quarter.

Over at Laurel, the first of two $10,000 stakes is the "Richard Johnson" for 2-year-olds. CARUSO will have an easy burden of 112 pounds, while DEDICATE has been asked to pack I20. For this reason I am stringing along with the FORMER.

For the other $10,000 race, I anticipate a victory for the good MIS-STEP, a 4-year-old that was a little short of sensational at Chicago tracks this year. It will mark her first start in Maryland. More anon.

NORTH CAROLINA ROUTS GEORGIA TECH TEAM, 18-7

60-Yard Run By Branch Feature .

Tarheels Use Passing Attack to Advantage to Win.

Thomason Scores for Tech After Sprinting 25 Yards.

By EDDIE BRIETZ

(Associated Press Sports Writer). A TLANTA, Ga., Oct. 11 (A.P.).—
A smart, alert and well-coached football team from the University of North Carolina tossed a bomb into the Southern football world here today by defeating the once invincible Golden Tornado of Georgia Tech.

18 to 7.

Coach Chuck Collins and the best Tarbeel team in years not only evened the score for last year's de-feat at Chapel Hill, but all but wrecked the Tech Hopes for either a onference or national championship his eason: Except in the first pe-iod, when the mighty stumpy Thomason broke through for a 25-yard run and the only Tech score, the team that last year hung the scalps of both Notre Dame and California from its belt was outplayed and outsmarted at every furn.

Time and time again the fine work of the Tarheel secondary defense stopped Mizell and Thomason, the big Tech threats, dead in their tracks, Thomason's 25-yard dash for touch-down was the only time either of cases luminaries got away.

Tech's Passing Game 1. Wrecked.

The Tech passing combination of Duniap and Jones, which defeated Mississippi A. & M. last week, was wrecked early in the second period when Jones was banished for unnecessary roughness. Duniap hurled plenty of passes thereafter, but he missed Jones on the receiving end. With Branch, the sophomore field general, and Magner, a brilliant passer, leading the attack, and with Addins, a powerful tackle, and Capt. Parris, the Carolina candidate for an all-Southern berth, sharing honors on the defense, the visitors from the North came from the rear in the second period to score twice, put the 1928 national champions on the defense, the wind of the defense of the afternoon.

day gave the Carolinians their third score. Branch, whose sensational work had been a striking feature of the visitors' offense, caught a punt and dashed 60 yards across the goal line, shaking off five tacklers on his mad journey to the promised land.

The last half was scoreless, although both teams were frequently within striking distancee. The Tech line was torn to shreds and Coach Alexander rushed in substitute after substitute. The Tornado's big weakness this year seems to be a scarcity of this year seems to be a scarcity of reserves.

Dunlap's defensive work was the bright spot of the Tech play after the first quarter when the line held against repeated assaults by the heavy Carolina backs. Maree the giant tackle, who has been converted into a full back, also made himself felt until he was taken out late in the last period.

STENOGS, 6, REACHED AT IN OPENER COLUMBIA

Field by a Well-Fought Game.

RREL MITCHELL and the Gonzaga High School football team together made their 1929 debut on the gridiron yesterday against the Business High School gridmen and came through with flying colors in a 31 to 6 game on the new Gonzaga Athletic Field at Thirty-fourth and Benning road northeast.

Mitchell flashed a heavy, well-drilled eleven for the early season and engineered so-called big time strategy in starting his second squad and inserting his first string array just before the first quarter was ended. All of the men he used worked well together and the multi-tude of Gonzaga followers went home after the game satisfied that football was going to prosper this year at the I street institution.

The gams not only marked the debut of the Gonzaga warriors, but the opening shot of Coach Lynn Woodworth's Business Eleven. Coach Woodworth too. used a quantity of substitutes and saw that his first string array was his best in that they were able to score a touchdown in the fourth quarter after they had just been sent into the game. Although the Stenoga were outclassed by the score, they were not outfought, as every member in the game fought as if a champlonship were at stake.

Business Makes Score

In Final Quarter.
Gonzaga had the going all in its favor during the first three-quarters, keeping the ball in business territory throughout. A 25-vard run by Mc Vean set the stage for the first touchdown, McCarron "following through" with a plunge through the line for the score. This was in the first quarter. In the second quarter a long advance down the field from midfield culminated in a touchdown with Allman and Fraund doing the with Allman and Freund doing the bulk of the ball carrying, Freund with Allman and Freund doing the bulk of the ball carrying, Freund taking it over.

A short pass from Bussink to Dunan started action after the intermission, Dunan running 45 yards for the score while an off-tackle run by Freund counted 1 several moments later. A pass from Bussink to Dunan added the only extra point of the game here. The third and final touchdown of the period came when McVean got away for a run of 20 yards around right end, Bussink missing the kick for the extra point.

The fourth quarter featured the only real Business thrust of the aftennon. Gonzaga, playing a passing game altogether at this time, led by McVean, who was doing the heaving, missed connections and Bill Duryee, coming in fast, intercepted, to run 40 yards in and out and down the side-lines for a score. Lester Jones missed the kick for the extra point.

Catholic Frosh Beat Calvert Hall, 13 to 0

Catholic University Freshmen yeserday opened their season with a 13-0 victory over Calvert Hall, of Baltimore, on the C. U. field. Led by Shearer, Whelan and Conroy, all backs, the Cardinal Cubs unleashed a varied attack which kept the Baltimoreans on the run most of the time.

On the third play of the game, Whelan smashed through tackle and ran 55 yards to the goal for a touchdown. He missed the attempt for extra point Early in the second quartite, Conroy took a 20-yard pass from Whelan and scampered 15 yards to the winners' second touchdown, Whelan and scampered 15 yards to the winners' second touchdown, Whelan and scampered 15 yards to the did as medalist by two strokes, his nearest competitor being C. > BY HENRY LITCHFIELD WEST. Of the sixteen players who started yesterday morning in the championship flight of the Columbia Country Club annual cham-Columbia Country Club annual cham-pionship tournament, there were four survivors at the conclusion of the second round yesterday afternoon. The quartet included Clyde B. Asher, who will play against J. B. Murphy in the upper bracket, and Paul J. Frizzell, the medalist of the event, against Miller B. Stevinson in the lower half

The semifinalists did not reach their coveted position without a strenuous struggle. Stevinson was forced to the nineteenth hole by Thomas P. Bones, jr.

The horses were kept at the barrier for thirteen and a half minutes and when the start finally came they were sent away to a very bad start. Gun Royal was away flying fully a length in front of the rest and he was hustled along all the way and Keisay, who had the mount, outrode Catrone, on Single Star, at the end. Gun Royal beat Single Star a nose. Sandy, away poorly, finished third. He had scant chance with the start.

On the Pacific coast where conference strife likewise will be on in full swing Howard Jones' Southern California steam-roller will be matched against the University of Washington huskies with the powerful team from the Golden State heavily favored. Of the three other conference games, that between California's Golden Dears and Washington State at Berkeley stands out as the big attraction as the invaders from the North threw a scare into the Berkeley book last year before losing by a count of 13 to 3.

The Georgia-Yale encounter overshadows even the conference games

A strong wind swept the field during the game, making it difficult for the backs to hold the ball. Fumbles were frequent. Johnny Justus, Tiger back, ripped off several long runs and was the outstanding man in the Clemson offense, although the honor of scoring the touchdowns went to Welch. Woodruff, McMillan and Harvin. McCarley, regular Clemson full back, was held out of the game with injuries.

Today's victory was the second consecutive triumph for Clemson over a Southern Conference foe. The Tigers defeated Auburn last Saturday.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 11 (N.Y.W. N.S.).—A National League aluh won a world series baseball game. It took the Chicago Cubs just one inning, to win today. They did it by a score of 3 to 1 and in doing it they accomplished the downfall of 'he long armed, gawky George Earnshaw, pride of the Philadelphia Athletics ataff, apsed ball pitcher extraordinary. They accomplished more than that. They shook off their own batting lethargy, peeled off the mantie of fullity that had enveloped them and looked the part of a fair to middling ball club.

Only 30,000 fans gazed upon the defeat of the Athletics. The ticket distribution system here folded up in the middle so that scalpers and other lower forms of life came into possession of great blocks of paste boards, only to have them laft in avarictous hands. Even the private property speculators, who had erected temporary bleachers atop their fist-roofed homes in Twentieth street, walled tonight. Bare spaces showed blue and ainister through the scattering few fans who had been taxed $10 for their distant perches.

Crowd Seems Cold

no less shocking to Philadelphia than the lack of base hits for the Athletics. Connie Mack's antique stadi um doesn't hold many citizens, I be lieve 34,000 is the normal limit, but even that normal limit wasn't reached and those who did mosey in were anything but eager in their bestowa anything but eager in their bestowal of plaudits. In fact, it was an even more silent and morose crowd than that last which belched out of the Chicago stands two days ago while lejected cublets wended their way to balmiess couches.

If the Athletics saw the aupposedly sfluigent star of George Earnahaw set today, the Cubs looked upon the ascendancy of the meteor of saffronfaced Guy Bush. Tall, thin, blackhaired, with the sallow skin that cemes out of the Mississippl awamplands, Bush pitched one of the finest games of the series, one bettered only by the masterly performance of the was in the seventh with his team trailing and the infield balk, his real thought being to beat it out for a hit rather than to suicide.

As to the other item mentioned—the strain under which the players were tolling—this was more evident than is usually the case. Outfielders almost batted their heads against the walls rushing for fouls which a blind man could see were headed for the stands by margins as great as 20 yards, while in the seventh Bush almost got in Taylor's way while simply lending him moral support while the catcher was waiting for Haas' pop-foul to fall in his mitt.

Much has been written about the breaks of the game. There were no prominent ones in either of the first two games of this set, but it was one on which the Cubs cashed in that gave them their victory this afternoon. This came in the mature of a "one-two" punch—first that Bush, who fanned his other three times upwas able to worry Earnshaw into giving him a pass starting the sixth frame and then that the usually reliable Dykea picked out this inning in which to miss a comparatively easy chance.

48 Persons Are Chosen for Duty in November Term of Court.

CIVIC GROUP TO MEET

The names of 48 persons were drawn s jurors for the November term o ne Montgomery County Circuit our yesterday at the courthouse in Rockville under the direction of Judge Rockville under the direction of Judge Robert B. Peter. Those chosen will make up the membership of the grand and petit juries for the term.

When the panel reports to Judge Peter on the second Monday in November he will appoint one man as foreman of the grand jury. The other 22 members of the grand jury will then be drawn. The remaining 25 will serve as petit jurors.

The drawing of the names was performed yesterday in the presence of members of the Rockville bar. The names of 200 persons were selected by the judge and placed in thirteen compartments of the drawing box. Each election district is represented in the group, the persons from that district being placed in a separate compartment.
